Social Security Pays Out $47,528 in County

More than 604 retired workers in Hempstead County were getting monthly social security insurance payments totaling $29,216 at the end of 1956. H. P. Thomas, Social Security Administration district manager in Texarkana declared today.

At the end of 1956, monthly benefit payments were going to 211 widows or aged dependent husbands of old age beneficiaries, in the amount of $5,232 and to 89 aged widows or dependent aged widowers and aged parents in the amount of $3,654 in Hempstead County.

The lowering of the retirement age from 65 to 62 for women was one of the provisions of the 1956 Amendments to the Social Security Act and became effective last November. It applies to retired women workers, wives of old-age beneficiaries, and widows or dependent mothers of deceased insured workers. Many women would have had to wait up to three years longer before starting to get benefits under the old law because entitled to benefits in the last two months of 1956.

Nothing that OASI coverage has taken hold rapidly in recent years, Thomas pointed out. That three-fourths of the men becoming 65 this year will be eligible for social security benefits. Of all people over 65 years of age, 62 per cent are now drawing benefits or will be entitled to draw them when their income from work stops.

In December 1956, 226 children in Hempstead County were being paid a total of 6,239 monthly. These were largely insurance children; a smaller number were children under 18 whose insured father or mother had retired. All of these were unmarried children under 18. While child's benefits ordinarily stop at age 18, Thomas called attention to a recent change in the law which makes payments possible for a child over 18, based on the insured parent's record. If the child became totally disabled before reaching 18, payments will be made also to the mother who has the disabled child in her care. This provision did not become effective until January 1957; consequently, disabled child beneficiaries are not included in the total given above.

Is the child of a retired or deceased person is entitled to monthly payments, the child's mother may also be entitled to benefits, regardless of her age. In Hempstead County at the end of 1956 81 widowed mothers who were caring for child beneficiaries were receiving $3,187 per month.

Commenting on the growth of the social security insurance in the 20 years of its operation, Thomas recalled that the original law covered about 26 million workers; 5.5 million people were in work covered by the law, and more than 9 out of every 10 persons who work for a living and 9 out of 10 mothers and children have a stake in the social security insurance program.

Negro Claims His Confession Forced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The trial of Lee Lee, 53-year-old Negro, railway worker accused of fatally shooting a Little Rock Negro postman, went into its third day this morning after both defense and prosecution witnesses had taken the stand.

Yesterday, Lee spent two hours in Pulaski Circuit Court defending himself on the charge of slaying William Harrison Smith Jr., 25, year.

Lee testified that he forced to confess to the crime after a Little Rock detective had handcuffed him to a tree in a graveyard and pistol-whipped him.

Extra Session, Bonds Linked by Senator

STUTTGART (AP) — State Sen. Tom Allen of Brinkley today predicted that a special legislative session will be called and that voters will be asked to approve short-term bonds to alleviate the Highway Department's current money shortage.

Allen said in an interview here that he believed Gov. Orval Faubus will call the legislature into special session within two weeks.

Any legislative remedy probably will take the form of short-term bonds insured by the state's bond reserve funds, he said. Allen said such action would necessitate a special election since the bonds would have to be approved by the state's voters.

Presumably, he added, the election would be held 30 days after the special session.

The state senator said he did not believe the State Board of Finance could legally transfer about three million dollars from a bond reserve fund to the Highway Department. The department has requested the transfer and Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett has ruled that the transfer would be possible under present law.

Allen said the proposed transfer Continued on Page Two

Businessmen Have Also Developed a Language

B. HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Just as lovers develop their own language so do businessmen.

For that matter do circus performers, soda jerks, college professors, psychiatrists, and men who rise early in the morning to open up banks with a "gk."

Some individuals even—such as Sam Goldwyn—develop a private language that becomes a public joy.

But right now greatest interest centers in two new weird and wonderful languages—one spoken by the teenager, the other by the man in the gray flannel suit.

This second language—now known as "businessmanese"—originated in the lower lower of advertising has spread throughout all industry with the speed of a wildfire.

Edward M. Myers, a merchandising and sales promotion expert, has collected a number of these "gkay" "flannelisms" and has found in conversations in many ex-

Atom Shipments to Russia Get Approval of AEC

BY FRANK CAREY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed today it has approved a first shipment of radioactive isotopes to Russia for use in cancer research.

In its 21st semi-annual report to Congress detailing advances it said were made "in all major programs" for both military and peaceful uses of atomic energy, the AEC included this paragraph:

"The first application for a license to export radioactive isotopes to Soviet Russia was received and approved. It covered a small amount of radioactive carbon-14 which will be used for cancer research at the Bi-Chemical Institute of the Academy of Science, Moscow."

A commission spokesman told a reporter the license to export the material to the Russians had been obtained from the AEC by the Chemoscope Corp. of New York City, one of the American firms that processes isotopes originally obtained from the AEC.

While the sections of the report dealing with weapons stressed armaments for "defense," the AEC made it clear it also is continuing to stockpile weapons that could be used in offense.

During the period of this report, emphasis continued on research and development activities designed to improve and increase the United States arsenal of nuclear weapons, it said.

Development programs continued on weapons employing new design principles which can be used more effectively for defense purposes.

City Manager Subject of Kiwanis Talk

The city manager of Hope, Jim James, was the subject of a Kiwanis Club talk last night. The speaker, Mr. James, discussed the city's financial situation and the need for a new city manager.

The Kiwanis Club of Hope held a meeting last night at the Elks Club. The speaker, Mr. James, discussed the city's financial situation and the need for a new city manager.

Final Rites Today for J. W. Wardlaw

Funeral services were to be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday for J. W. Wardlaw, 86, resident of McCaskill, who died in a local hospital Tuesday. Services were held at Friendship with burial in Harris Cemetery by Herndon-Cornelius.

Survivors include his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Elmer Brakobill of McCaskill and Mrs. Elton Daniel of Smackover; two sons, Lester of Longview, Texas and Tom Wardlaw of Hope; four brothers, R. L. of Blevins, R. J. C. O., and R. C. Wardlaw of McCaskill; two sisters, Mrs. R. R. Moses of Littlefield, Texas and Mrs. Ezar McDougald of Houston.

Lightning Strikes Tree, Three Killed

QUEENS FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — Three persons in a fishing party were killed last night when lightning struck a tree under which they were standing.

The victims were Joseph V. Laniard, 21, of the Bronx; his daughter, Joan, 20; and Frederick Stranghan, 14, of Queensbury.

The three had been fishing from the shore of an artificial lake near here when the bolt struck the tree, which stood about 100 feet off shore and traveled several feet to where they were standing.

Slash in Salary Increase to Teachers Before They Received a Cent Indicated by Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus says Arkansas teachers' salaries will not be hurt appreciably by a proposed slash of two million dollars in the 1957-58 public school budget.

The governor said yesterday after a conference with education officials on the reduction that many school districts will be able to make up the deficit in salaries from local funds.

Revenues from a 1-cent sales tax increase have been blown expectations, causing a drop in the education budget from 44 million dollars to $41,819,000.

Faubus also had some comment on another big money matter — the suggested transfer of three million dollars from the state highway bond reserve fund to the Arkansas Highway Commission.

He said he might ask David Wood, a New York bond attorney who gave the approving opinion when the state's highway bonds were sold in 1941, to say what he thought about such a transfer.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett as ruled that state officials can shift the money to help the Highway Commission out of a financial plight without the necessity of a special legislative session.

But some experts have maintained that such tapping of the bond reserve would impair the state's contract with bondholders.

Faubus said he and other state officials had agreed some time ago that budgets of agencies operating on general revenues should be cut five per cent. This Education Department is one of these agencies.

The governor, remarking that "this has been a tough year for Arkansas," said he was surprised that tax collections have held up as well as they have.

The State Board of Education will meet tomorrow to take final action on recommendations for the budget reduction.

Faubus also conferred yesterday with J. L. Shaver of Wayne, a former lieutenant governor, leading to speculation that Shaver will become a Faubus appointee to the State Sovereignty Commission.

Shaver is an attorney who served on the committee which drafted anti-integration proposals successfully sponsored by Faubus in the 1956 general election.

Faubus said after the conference with Shaver that he will name his tree appointee to the commission before the end of the week. Pending the announcement, he refused to say whether Shaver would be one of the three.

A suit to force the governor to make the appointments at once was filed last Friday in Pulaski Chancery Court.

Faubus charged that the suit was politically inspired by former state Sen. Jim Johnson of Crossett, whom he defeated in last year's primaries. Johnson was a strong segregationist candidate.

Post Office Construction Seems Bogged

BY GORDON BROWN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Construction of a group of new Federal post offices and office buildings in Arkansas appears to have bogged down in confusion over what Congress will do about the lease-purchase act.

Enacted three years ago, this act expired last July 15 and whether it is to be revived, altered or replaced is uncertain at this time.

Until this uncertainty is removed, there isn't likely to be much, if any progress made on the proposed new buildings for Helena, Hot Springs and Little Rock.

These new structures, together with a new post office for West Memphis, had been approved previously and slated for construction.

The West Memphis post office, undertaken through efforts of local undertakers, actually is under way and soon will be completed.

In addition to these, indications are that the Post Office Department and the General Services Administration had under study for possible inclusion in the program new buildings at Camden, Fayetteville, Harrisburg, Jonesboro and Pine Bluff.

These studies have ground to a halt with expiration of the act.

The lease-purchase act contemplated construction of federal buildings by private interests. Structures were to be built to government specifications and leased to the federal government. Lease payments by the government, over period of 10 to 30 years, would eventually pay back the private interests — plus four percent interest — and the government then would take over title to the buildings.

Hoffa's Friend Ordered Out by AFL-CIO Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany today ordered Paul Dorfman, a close friend of Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa, removed from office in a Chicago labor union.

Dorfman previously had been suspended as secretary-treasurer of the Waste Material Handlers Union No. 20467. Meany's action made the ouster permanent.

The action was based in part on findings that Dorfman's wife, Rose, and thus Dorfman himself, realized profits running to about $100,000 a year from handling Teamsters and Electrical Workers union welfare accounts controlled by Hoffa and other union leaders.

Dorfman was in almost daily attendance at the recent federal court trial here in which Hoffa, their apparent to Dave Back, a Teamsters Union president, was acquitted by a jury of charges of bribing a Senate Rackets Committee hearing on corruption charges against the Teamsters.

Dorfman's union, with approximately 900 members, is directly affiliated with the AFL-CIO. Thus the case was handled directly by Meany without consideration by the ethical practice group.

Five Polio Cases in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Five new cases of polio in Arkansas for the week ending last Saturday sent the year's total to 42 cases.

Cases of paralytic polio were reported in Cass and Monroe counties, and non-paralytic cases were in Boone, Lafayette and Marion counties.

The state had four cases reported the previous week, and five the corresponding week a year ago. The total for the entire period last year was 44 cases.

McClellan Says Hoffa Associate of Racketeers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief Senate rackets probe pictured teamster boss James R. Hoffa to be an associate of racketeers in a bid for power that enriched gangsters and victimized union members.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) outlined in a prepared statement the scope of hearings his special Senate committee opens today into improper labor-management practices in the New York City area.

Hoffa is midwest vice president of the Teamsters Union and the likely successor to Dave Beck as the union's international president.

McClellan did not say whether Hoffa would be among the more than 100 witnesses to be called, but the union said yesterday several of its top officials have been summoned.

Hoffa was acquitted recently by a Federal Court jury of charges that he bribed a lawyer to spy on the rackets committee's investigations. Hoffa still faces trial on federal wire tapping charges involving his Detroit office.

McClellan and the evidence assembled by the committee will show that Hoffa used gangsters, and that gangsters used Communists, in a bid for power in which Hoffa would have a stranglehold over the port of New York. The next step would be the entire Eastern Seaboard and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Dime Sized Battery Revealed by AEC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission today announced development of a dime-sized atomic battery of a type that may ultimately power equipment "in guided missiles and space craft."

In its semi-annual report to Congress, the AEC said the experimental battery is capable of powering a wrist watch in its present stage of development. It has a useful life of more than five years and an output of 20 microwatts.

"Although not yet available for everyday use," said the AEC, "larger future models of the battery are expected to power portable radios, hearing aids, and equipment in guided missile and space craft."

The report did not say who developed the battery, but cited it as an example of "several new industrial uses of radioisotopes" reported during the first six months of 1957.

The battery employs a radioactive isotope called promethium 147 as a power source.

All Around Town

Dale Bonds of the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission said work on the Fish and Game project is making good progress and in all probability the area will be ready for duck hunting this year.

Four to six foot levee is being erected near three miles south of Highway 67 on the east side of the creek.

... rain has hurt some and the weather will be a definite factor in completion.

... water covers the duck area only during the season, being controlled to keep from killing timber and it rarely will get over a foot deep.

Dale doubts that the fishing area will be completed this year.

... however, when completed it will cover about 800 acres permanently.

... the entire project takes in around 7,000 acres.

... the original appropriation for the job was $75,000 but this figure has been increased considerably.

... there is little doubt that when completed instead will have the finest hunting and fishing preserve in this section.

Ike Lashes Out Against Jury Trial Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he is opposed to adding a jury amendment to the administration's civil rights bill now before the Senate.

Eisenhower told his news conference the power of federal judges (enforce court orders, must be sustained. He added that was his last word on the subject.

Eisenhower was asked if he had any general comment on the progress of the civil rights bill, which the Senate has reduced to a right to vote measure.

Eisenhower said he stands by his July 10 statement in which he listed four main objectives he said he hoped would be accomplished by congressional passage of the measure.

One of these objectives—proposed authority for the attorney general to enforce general civil rights by seeking court action—already has been knocked out of the bill.

The major section still in the bill would authorize the attorney general to seek civil injunctions to protect the voting rights of minority groups and individuals. No jury trial would be required in such cases.

However, Sens. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Church (D-Idaho) have proposed an amendment to require jury trials in criminal contempt cases growing out of voting rights violations.

Shaver to Get Appointment, Says Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus today confirmed reports former Lt. Gov. J. L. (Bex) Shaver of Wynne will be named to the State Sovereignty Commission.

He said he planned to name the two other members of the 11-man commission later today after he has talked with them by telephone.

Faubus said the first meeting of the commission would be held "probably within two weeks." He said he knew of no business to be conducted by the commission, created by the 1957 legislature.

"I'm only chairman of the commission," Faubus said.

Patterson to Go All Out After Pete

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson says the hospitalization of Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson won't deter him from going all out against Olympic kilt Pete Rademacher in their Aug. 22 title bout in Seattle.

Jackson, floored three times and dealt a fearful beating by Patterson at the Polo Grounds Monday night, was reported "resting comfortably" today at Meadowbrook Hospital at East Meadows, N.Y.

He went to the hospital five hours after he was stopped in the 10th round of the title fight.

Physicians said Jackson had suffered a bruised kidney as a result of the beating and recently reported that he was confined to the hospital for several days for further observation.

Patterson visited him at the hospital early yesterday.

Asked if he feared he might injure the professionally unproven Olympic heavyweight champion of 1956, Patterson replied:

"No, I would have to regard him like I did Jackson and other strong opponent. He's a big, strong fellow. I hear, he's been boxing 10 years and anyone who wins an Olympic title has to be good to beat the world's best amateurs. I'm going to be fully prepared."

Uneasy Peace After Riot of Prisoners

DEER LODGE, Mont. (AP) — An uneasy peace settled over Montana State Prison today after a day of rioting which saw eight guards seized as hostages by rebel convicts.

The riot collapsed after nearly nine hours when Atty. Gen. Forrest H. Anderson promised a full investigation of conditions at the 88-year-old prison and serious consideration of 20 demands made by the convicts.

The riot's end came only a few hours before some 200 Montana National Guardsmen and peace officers were poised to invade Cell Block A, where the convicts held the guards hostage.

Eight guards were swept up by shouting convicts when the riot broke out in the exercise yard at 3:30 p.m. Two were released shortly afterward, and a third went free minutes before the riot ended when Anderson made his pledge to the prisoner by loudspeaker.

The prisoners freed the five remaining guards, who said they had not been mistreated and had been locked in separate cells. Then the convicts went into their cells voluntarily and the big mass of men in the exercise yard followed suit.

In all, about 500 prisoners—the entire inside-the-wall population—took part in the rioting. Another 200 trusty prisoners live on the state prison farm.

There was little damage reported to prison installations. A small fire was set in the administration building but the rioters themselves put it out when cooler heads among them prevailed.

Muffett, 23, has pitched 14 complete games for Houston, walked only 64 and struck out 139 in 188 innings. He has given up 48 runs.

McKinney Is Named Mayor of El Dorado

By The Associated Press

El Dorado and Junction City have elected new mayors and two other cities, North Little Rock and Van Buren, have put mayoral candidates in a runoff.

Alderman Wilfred McKinney was elected mayor of El Dorado yesterday in the Democratic preferential primary with a clear majority over three opponents. He polled 2,774 votes.

Floyd R. Slaughter won the nomination for mayor of Junction City, near El Dorado, with 82 votes. His opponents, Clyde L. Harrier and G. C. Hux, received 59 and 8 votes respectively.

At North Little Rock, incumbent Mayor A. C. Perry was eliminated from the race and W. F. (Casey) Laman and City Atty. Reed Thompson made the runoff scheduled for Aug. 13.

Auto salesman Alley Roy Toothaker, with 602 votes, won a plurality over incumbent Mayor Burton Lankford of Van Buren.

McKinney's opponents were Joe L. Tompkins, who got 1,488 votes; A. N. Garrett, who received 859, and Paul F. Jones, who got 192.

Laman, a member of the North Little Rock School Board, had a plurality in that city's primary. He polled 2,425 votes to 1,931 for Thompson and 1,460 for Perry.

Perry took his defeat calmly, saying "that's politics for you."

He added that it was "a good clean campaign all around and I appreciate that."

Toothaker polled 682 votes to Lankford's 55 in the Van Buren election. J. O. Owens, who got 215 votes, and Iverson Riggs, who received 193, were eliminated.

President Will Submit a New School Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he will submit a new school aid bill to the next session of Congress—a bill, he said, that won't put an "albatross" around the neck of the American taxpayer.

At a news conference, Eisenhower also firmly opposed adding any jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill now before the Senate and voiced hope the measure will be passed some in its present form.

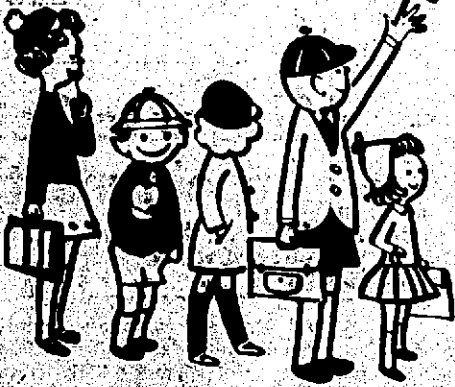

Eisenhower said, too, he is very hopeful that Congress will act soon to provide an adequate foreign aid bill. He said it was news to him that some Senate Democrats have been complaining they could not get White House help in getting the mutual security legislation through.

Eisenhower also denied with considerable heat that the $30,000 contributed by Maxwell Gluck to the Republican Party had anything to do with his nomination of Gluck to be ambassador to Ceylon.

Eisenhower's answers as he faced more than 200 newsmen ranged from world problems to his personal finances.

Referring to a recent published report in a newspaper series by Fletcher Knebel that Eisenhower's personal worth is in the neighborhood of a million dollars, the President provoked a roar of laughter by saying that if that writer offers him a million to sell out, he's going to make a sale.

GOPs to Fight Move for Atom Electric Power

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans rallied today for a battle on the House floor against a Democratic maneuver to compel the administration to start developing atomic-fueled electric power plants.

A bill to authorize a $8-million-dollar beginning on such developments came out of the Senate House Atomic Energy Commission yesterday by a largely partisan vote.

Chairman Durham (D-NC) said he hopes to get the bill before the House next week.

Republicans said Rep. Cole (R-NY) was passing the word that "we're going to have a fight on the floor." Cole is the senior GOP House member on the committee.

Rep. Van and (R-Pa) told a reporter the Republicans probably will center their attacks on provisions which would:

1. Authorize the spending of 40 millions for a gas-cooled power reactor patterned after one the British are developing. It probably would be located in Idaho, and turned out some 40,000 kilowatts of electric power for commercial use.

2. Authorize the government to put $120,015,000 into various kinds of nuclear reactors for five electric cooperative or municipal power systems, at Elk River, Minn.; Big Rapids, Mich.; Chugash, Alaska; Piqua, Ohio; and a spot in Nebraska still to be chosen.

The authority was wrapped up in a bill to let the Atomic Energy Commission spend $259,230,000 for construction for its military program and the development of peaceful uses of atomic energy in the present fiscal year.

The measure also would authorize a $5-million-dollar pilot reactor to try to make use of the plutonium of atom bombs for producing power, and at three-million-dollar engineering survey on a reactor to turn out plutonium for small weapons.

DOROTHY DIX

Trans-Atlantic Plot Fails, But Better Luck Next Time!

Dear Dorothy Dix: As a stranger in this wonderful country, I ask for your unbiased opinion on my problem. I've only been here six months.

A year ago we were visited in England by a very distant cousin of mine, Roger, who was making his first trip abroad. He stayed with us a week and eventually professed himself serious about me. When he returned home he wrote constantly for two or three months, then — silence.

I had a standing invitation to make an extended visit with an aunt and uncle here and finally decided to take advantage of it. When I arrived, Roger got in touch with me, greeted me with great enthusiasm, took me out twice, then — silence again.

Talk is going around that I came here to marry Roger. I probably would accept if he asked, but certainly I'm not going around with a broken heart. What to do? — VIOLET

Dear Violet: As soon as it became known in the small town from which you wrote that you were coming, gossip undoubtedly might as well face facts. You did come here hoping to reawaken Roger's interest — a perfectly normal thing to do. Your trip may not have achieved its primary purpose but do take advantage of some of the thrilling experiences we have for visitors, enjoy their variety, and make a graceful exit.

You're taking your disappointment very well. Keep the chin up, don't make a romantic martyr of yourself and you'll go home a wiser, more experienced and much-traveled young lady. I hope you and Cupid have better luck on home ground.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Mitch, my fiancé, took me to our graduation prom and gave me the shock of my life. During the evening he complained that his feet were killing him. He rushed off the floor and came back minus shoes and socks. Naturally he created lots of excitement and drew plenty of attention. Ever since he's made a habit of removing his footwear when we're at a dance. — ANITA

Dear Anita: What some people won't do to be the clown of the evening! Mitch created a stir the first time he appeared with bare feet, and as soon as his idiosyncrasy failed to evoke peals of laughter, he'll go conventional again. Refuse to go out with him while his peculiarity lasts.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Is it ever a good idea to refuse a date with someone so he'll think he has competition? — DIENA

Dear Diana: Occasionally this subterfuge may work, but more often it backfires. I'm of the school that believes if you like a boy, let him know it; if you enjoy dating him, make him aware of it.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Providing job opportunities are the same in both places, should a girl stay in a small town or go to a city? Where would she have a better chance of meeting eligible men? — APRIL

Dear April: A girl needs only one eligible man and he can turn

A-Powered Merchant Ships by 1960

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans to let the contract for building the first atomic-powered merchant ship early this fall and have it at sea in 1960.

This was announced today at a meeting called by the Atomic Energy Commission, the Maritime Administration and the Commerce Department and attended by representatives of the maritime industry.

Clarence G. Morse, maritime administrator, said the timetable calls for alying the keep for the ship in the spring of 1958. Launching "should follow a year later," the seagoing cargo ship will "carry to all corners of the earth the idea of President Eisenhower for the peaceful use of atomic energy."

Details of the new ship were described by Douglas C. MacMillan in country or city, on land or on sea. If you live in a small town, try working in a city for a while. The experience will at least be interesting, even if it doesn't end in a dream apartment with Prince Charming.

lan. of George C. Sharp, Inc., which has been designated to design the hull.

Among other features, the plans call for a 350,000-mile range with the first load of nuclear fuel. Refueling would be expected in about three years.

Oil Production Shows Decline

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A decline in Oklahoma and Kansas dropped the daily average production of domestic crude oil and condensate by 24,650 barrels to 6,908,950 barrels during the week ended July 27, the Oil and Gas Journal's survey showed today.

Oklahoma's loss was 17,000 barrels to 583,400. Kansas dropped off by 14,700 barrels to 348,300. However, reports from both states were from the week ending the previous Monday, July 22.

The journal's estimate of 1957 production rose to 1,548,301,650 barrels compared to 1,495,513,260 a year ago.

The week's largest advance was in Illinois, up 5,000 barrels to 157,800. Wyoming rose by 4,050 barrels to 289,650.

Production was unchanged in Arkansas at 84,000 barrels.

THE STORY: In a gun duel on Blue Springs' main street, federal Marshal Harney Bland chard, kills Si Hahka, a gun fighter who was hired as town marshal to drive the U. S. marshal out of town. Harney had refused to leave before he found Pete Dorsey, a federal prisoner who was kidnapped.

CHAPTER XV

The light brightened and grew and the train moved in on us. Blanchard said, "Let's go." He moved south along the wall. He turned the corner and I followed. Blanchard stopped and stared into the dark of Peterson's hide yard. He looked for a long time. There was nothing to see but the rails of the old loading pens and two big derricks that Peterson used for loading the bundles of pressed hides into railroad cars. Then Blanchard turned back to the tracks. We stood there a time watching the light. With a faint squeal and a hissing noise pushing slow, the light passed and we were in dark again.

Blanchard looked around the corner and I moved out to go around him for a look but his arm reached out and held me back. But I could see, just the same, against the faint light. The train stopped and a thick old man who was conductor stepped down from the first coach.

Cole Jethroe hadn't got off that train. Nobody had.

"All right," Blanchard said, moving around the corner. "Nothing to stay for now."

We moved north along the depot. I was afraid of what Blanchard was thinking. "She wasn't sure," I said. "Dan didn't tell her all of it. Besides, maybe Cole got held up along the line somewhere. Maybe he'll be on the morning train."

"Maybe."

We walked to Chicago St. A light burned in the livery and the big door was open. I thought about Owen and I wondered where he'd been when Si Hahka made his move. Now, I thought, let him say something smart about Blanchard.

Passing the livery, I saw Owen moving to the door inside the barn. He led the gray gelding he rented for a pack horse. A bent man with a scraggly beard came out behind Owen. I recognized Birch Crons and I thought it was a nighty unusual time for Birch to be renting the pack horse. And something else. Usually he wanted the sawbuck saddle. Now he had one on the gray with box pannels. Birch said he was a prospector, when anybody asked. He wandered a lot in the ravines and breaks south of Buffalo Basin. I'd seen him out there more than once. Some folks said he had a Spanish silver cached in a cave cut in the breaks. I didn't believe it. I didn't believe he was a prospector, either, unless he was crazy. Far as I knew, nobody had found anything but buffalo bones out in that country.

I stopped across the street from the livery and Blanchard waited while I kept an eye on Birch. He got on a little pinto that he usually rode and moved out on Chicago St., heading south, the gelding stepping along behind him.

I knew Birch did a little work for the Clements in the hunting season. Not much, because Birch didn't care for work. It came to me in kind of a wild way in my head that maybe Birch was doing a little more work for the Clements. It got wilder yet and I thought that maybe I knew where Pete Dorsey was, in kind of a general way.

I motioned to Blanchard and we moved across to the livery. Owen stood in the doorway, looking hard at Blanchard. I saw the buggy then, off by the corner. It looked new, with a shiny paint and bright metal. Owen saw me looking and look on a big, excited smile.

"I guess," he said, "you want to know whose buggy."

"Whose?" I said, sharp.

"Well now... let's see, can't remember." Owen put his hand to his mouth, like he was thinking. It didn't fool me. Big, fat, stupid Owen, playing games on a night like this one. I got mad.

"Whose?"

"I remember. Cole Jethroe. Yessir. Come in half an hour ago from the north."

I could have killed Owen right then. Showing off for Blanchard, making a fool of himself. Cole Jethroe in town and he makes a joke of it. I braked. "Where is he, Owen?"

Owen pulled at his lower lip. "Pike, he just left the buggy and put up the horses and moseyed off."

Blanchard stared at Owen. There was no use going to see Lillian now. But maybe there was, too. Maybe Cole would go to see her. Then I thought about Birch Crons riding south. I couldn't put down the feeling about him but I knew we had to look for Cole. I decided Blanchard would have to look for Cole by himself.

"You'll have to look for Cole, Harney," I said. "I got riding to do."

Blanchard looked south. "That rider with the pack outfit?"

I nodded. "It's just a hunch. Crazy, maybe."

I threw my saddle on Pilot and pulled the bridle up and got mad at him when he clamped his teeth. But then the bit clicked in and I let him stand while I went out of the stall, moving as fast as I could. I nearly ran Owen down.

"You... need help, Pike?"

"No," I said and ran for the Joff ladder. Owen helping, I thought. That was something. I stumbled through the dark in the loft and then lit a match and grabbed my Springfield and picked a pocketful of shells out from my old war bag.

Falling Limb Fatal to Timber Cutter

DE QUEEN, Mo. — A 64-year-old timber cutter was struck on the head by a falling limb and killed today in a logging accident about four miles southeast of here.

Coroner Roy Jack said Burl Reese of DeQueen, died about five minutes after he was struck.

Seems Stars Going to TV Commercials

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—A "star," as defined along Madison Avenue these days, is one who is considered worthy of pitching a TV commercial. Have you noticed?

And now Variety, the trade journal of show business, reports that Bing Crosby himself has recently finished performing in four television film commercials which push home appliances.

Many people complain about commercials and claim that they don't look at them, yet the advertising sponsor money is swarming heavily to well-known names plugging the product.

The list of noted sales ladies and gentlemen includes Julie London, Martha Wright, Vaughn Monroe, Marge and Gower Champion, George Sanders, Henry Ford, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., William Lundigan.

Performers from the Broadway musical, "Most Happy Fella," including Robert Weede, Jo Sullivan and Art Lund, have been doing commercials for a cigarmaker.

Why do they do commercials? Well, there's always cash, but some are not so much interested in cash and settle for products. In Bing Crosby's case it's said to assume he doesn't need money and it's even safer to assume he isn't doing it for a free load of home appliances.

Isn't it probable that he's doing it for the sake of what you might call exposure to the public? Crosby, still one of the biggest names in show business, has curtailed his public appearances. He works when he wants to and he does very little television.

To remain a big show business name, however, you have to keep your name before the public as much as possible.

CHEVROLET BEST IN TRANSCONTINENTAL ECONOMY TEST!

In a conclusive test, sanctioned and certified by the NATA,* Chevrolet proved that it costs least to operate of the three leading low-priced cars tested! Traveling from Los Angeles to New York, Chevrolet recorded up to 17% greater fuel economy and lower total cost for the trip!

Chevy showed its outstanding thriftiness, all right, in one of the most thorough tests of this kind ever undertaken. Still, Chevrolet's ability to save big hardly comes as a surprise. Its economy is as traditional as its craftsmanship and solid construction. You take for granted Chevy's low operating costs, just as you've come to expect its fine finishing touches and careful attention to details. See your Chevrolet dealer for a demonstration drive!
